Gibbs And Clegg Answer Critics Claims Statement Not Anti-Jewish

by Dwazi Greiggar, Black Alliance Against Media Stereotypes, Chairman
Menelek Sessing, African American Self-Defense League, Chairman

A nationwide controversy was recently triggered by the comments of Attorney Legrand H. Clegg II, chairman of the Coalition Against Black Exploitation, a media watch dog organization and actress Marla Gibbs at the July convention of the NAACP held in Los Angeles. Both speakers were part of a panel whose subject was concerned with opportunities for African American in the film industry.

Ninety-nine percent of Clegg's presentation focused on the responsibility of Black artists, directors and producers to improve the image of African Americans in movies. To facilitate this, Clegg suggested many things, among which was a summit meeting between Black and Jewish leaders centered on the elimination of Jewish racism in Hollywood.

In response to a question regarding the "Jewish entertainment business," Gibbs made the following statement: "I'm sure when the Jews set up their business they didn't set it up for you, they set it up to make money from their perspective of what would make a successful business, and if we had set it up we would have done the same thing."

Clegg and Gibbs have been attacked in the Jewish community, but have also been widely praised by African Americans. In television and radio interviews and letters to the Los Angeles Times, Clegg and Gibbs have stated that their comments were not intended to be anti-Jewish.

Most who have criticized Clegg and Gibbs have attacked them for suggesting that Jews "control" the film industry. These attacks are nothing more than disingenuous efforts to isolate and silence strong, Black voices. What is worse, the white press is promoting a raw and ugly double standard.

For years whites and Jews inside and outside of the film industry have boasted that Eastern European Jews founded Hollywood and that Jewish people remain the "preponderant" force there today. Phil Silvers and Polly Bergen's "The Rabbi And The Nun" document this. And, most recently, Jewish author Neal Gabler's award winning book, "An Empire Of Their Own: How The Jews Invented Hollywood," leaves no doubt who wields power in tinseltown.

Even the Los Angeles Times, which bitterly criticized Clegg for his comments and condemned NAACP leadership for failing to repudiate him, has on at least two occasions unabashedly published articles citing the dominant influence of Jews in Hollywood.

In a review of Gabler's book, Charles Champlin wrote the following in the Times' Book review section on September 25, 1988: "The fact is that Hollywood, a.k.a. the American Film Industry, was 'founded and for more than thirty years operated by Eastern European Jews,' as Neal Gabler says in his lively and scholarly history of the phenomenon, 'An Empire of Their Own.' He adds that the studio system was perfected by a second generation of Jews. Even now, in a Hollywood profoundly changed by the coming of television, the industry behind the cameras, from its top leadership through the ranks of producers, marketers, talent agents, business managers and legal counsel, is still preponderantly Jewish..."

Again, on April 16, 1989, the Calendar section of the Los Angeles Times carried an article entitled, "Hollywood Burning - Blacks and The Film Industry: The Smoldering Debate - is it Economics or Racism?" Written by Patrick Goldstein, the piece quotes Jewish producer Rob Cohen as follows: "We work in an industry where everyone has the same profile, the same judgements and the same interests. In tone Hollywood is a white male, college educated Jewish milieu full of ambitious guys who want to play out their fantasies, in the largest possible forum." (emphasis added)

Where were the cries of anti-Semitism when Gabler's book was published? Why haven't the media condemned Charles Champlin, Patrick Goldstein and Rob Cohen with scathing editorials and commentaries?

If, as some Jewish writer admit, Hollywood is a "Jewish milieu," is it not appropriate for African Americans to appeal to Jewish leaders to join Black people in the fight against racism that is so prevalent in the film industry? Or, to please the media, should Blacks remain silent, lest they be labelled anti-Semitic?

Media stereotypes are very dangerous. They can lead to the isolation, stigmatization or even extermination of a race of people. The Nazis cleverly used the media to turn the Germans against their Jewish countrymen, and this led to the Holocaust.

Throughout the Twentieth Century most stereotypes of Black people, from the early minstrel shows, Stepin Fetchit and "The Little Rascals" to Norman Lear's "Good Times" and "The Jeffersons" to Mort Lochman's "Give Me A Break," have been produced and directed by Jews.

If the Anti-Defamation League, the American Jewish Congress and the Jewish Defense League do not have the courage to stop this long-standing and vicious practice, then, we, African Americans, must applaud and defend our leaders who have the fortitude and integrity to stand up and say to the world, "Enough is enough!!"

Dr. Juanita Scott, for whom the Humanitarian Award was named, greets Speaker of the Assembly, Willie Brown at the Black Culture Foundation Black Rose Awards

King Named Humanitarian Of The Year

The San Bernardino Black Culture Foundation has selected Jim King, District Manager for Southern California Gas Company and the organization's president as it's first Humanitarian of the Year. The ceremonies were held as part of the First Annual Black Rose Awards on Thursday, August 23rd, at the National Orange Show. Keynote Speaker for the event was Speaker of the California State Assembly Willie Brown.

Brown addressed the problem of the youth in the State of California. Brown said that death's of youth are becoming so common that they don't make the front page of newspapers outside of the area. He cited the recent deaths of children 4 - 15 years old who were killed in New York at the hands of other children. If this were happening in South Africa, Israel, or Arabia, it would be front page news. "We have numbed ourselves, we have not addressed the question of why these things exist of how to get rid of the instruments (that cause these deaths)."

"We must take back our neighborhoods." He cited the efforts of a group lead by Danny Bakewell in Los Angeles that reduces fear, and says it is not respectable to do drugs.

He marveled at the statistics of San Bernardino School District's drop-out reduction especially the Black male drop-out rate being lower than their White counterparts. "We must reach out and give that extra hand. We must redirect kids out of the criminal system. It is our responsibility to reach back."

Brown pledged to give the appropriate dollars for us to help fight the drugs, gangs, high drop-out rates and other things that bring our community down.

Along with receiving the Humanitarian Award, which was named for Dr. Juanita H. Scott, Jim King also received a Resolutions/Proclamations from local officials.

Crider Urges Nike Boycott

By Tyrone Crider

Across the years Operation PUSH, in the non-violent tradition of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has negotiated fair and mutually beneficial economic relationships with corporate America. We use our consumerism and our labor as a basis for seeking equitable and fair relationships with corporate America. We use our consumerism and our labor as a basis for seeking equitable and fair relationships. We have done so with the Ford Motor Company, the Burger King Corporation, the Seven-Up Corporation, and nearly 25 others. Each of these companies have come to the realization that developing stronger economic relationships with the minority community makes good business sense. We have always had honorable relationships, always sought parity not charity, and reciprocity not generosity.

Our process has always been above board. We do research. We educate the consumer. We sensitize the corporate leadership. Then we negotiate. Only then, if that process fails, do we boycott as a last resort.

This year PUSH chose to focus on the athletic shoe industry. Nike was the first company with which we sought to negotiate. Nike was chosen because they are the leader in the industry.

We were in the midst of good-faith negotiations when Nike chose to attack us by alleging collusion between PUSH and Reebok. Not only is this untrue, but Reebok is the next company with which we will seek to negotiate. Faced with this breakdown in negotiations with Nike, we had little choice but to move forward in our process and to launch our direct action campaign.

During this campaign we are asking our supporters to boycott and "blackout" (place Black tape over the Nike name and emblem) because of what we term the "ZERO" factor Nike has ZERO African Americans on its Board of Directors; ZERO African Americans Vice-Presidents; uses the services of ZERO African American advertising agencies; schedules ZERO advertising with African American owned magazines such as Jet, Ebony, and Black Enterprise; and Schedules ZERO advertising with African American owned television and radio stations.

Our goal is to expand procurement opportunities for African American entrepreneurs including professional service providers and to erase the "ZERO" factor (apartheid policies) in corporate America beginning with Nike

by Robert B. Ingram

Why do we kill each other? Why do we rape our women and abandon our babies?

A concrete, in-depth, comparative analysis of the ancient Roman gladiators and African American males of the present may reveal some alarming similarities, and we need to look into history for some clues that just may help present our modern-day African American gladiators from suffering the same fate as our Roman counterpart.

We look to ancient Rome, because the immorality of that day matches the vulgarity of this day.

We look to ancient Rome because it is a time when the gluttony of antiquity matches the wine drinking, the prostitution and the drug addiction currently.

We look to Ancient Rome because it is a time where the old-fashioned fighting and beating of gladiators, one on the other matches the contemporary maiming and the mauling of brothers, one on the other.

When we compare the behavior of the Roman gladiator and the African American gladiator, we find that modern gladiators dress well and eat good, as did the Roman gladiators of the past. Not only that; we appear to be extremely complacent under the very worst of circumstances. We, as African Americans, are still at the bottom of the societal ladder and in a financially tenuous position.

We are a people with one of the highest suicide rates, the highest homicide rate, the highest jail population rate and the highest prison execution rate, just like the Roman gladiators.

Not only that; we comprise only 13 percent of the nation's population, yet account for nearly 51 percent of the entire prison population. African American female-headed households account for 41 percent of our African American families. Out of every 100 murder victims, 44 are African Americans. Each year since 1981, nearly 50 percent of all recorded murders were committed by Blacks.

There are striking similarities between the Roman gladiators and the modern

African American gladiators. In their fights with one another, Roman gladiators were merciless and cruel, as are the battles among contemporary African Americans. Roman gladiators fought with swords, African Americans fight with switchblades.

Roman gladiators wore togas and sandals; African Americans wear three piece suits and Stacy Adams shoes. Roman gladiators killed each other and African Americans kill each other.

African Americans appear to be brainwashed into believing that there exists some sort of nobility in this sordid ideal of fighting and dying. Our history reflects battles between some of our greatest minds, Booker T. Washington, and W.E.B. DuBois - gladiators both unwillingly and probably unwillingly manipulated gladiators, but gladiators nonetheless. Within the same gladiator arena, we find the same fight, the same controllers only different participants this time. Not unlike DuBois and Washington, we find Malcolm X and Dr. Martin Luther King engaged in their public battle.

The list goes on: Jackie Robinson and Paul Robeson, Jesse Owens and Juan Carlos, Franco Harris and Jim Brown; the pattern is frightening yet so accurate and chilling that if we do not change, one can predict the eventual demise of our African American culture.

All is not lost: there is still hope for African Americans. If we recognize the script, we can change it. All of the things that divide us - dope, alcohol, income and the like - must be pushed aside for a unity based upon faith, fidelity, love and commonality.

If we must be gladiators, we must select the opponent and the fight will not continue to be directed by the manipulators of the past and present.

If we must be gladiators let us be gladiators taking each link of our broken chain and welding them into bonds of unity, connecting poor African American and rich African American. Aunt Jemimas and Uncle Toms, those who live in houses and those who live in fields, gladiators and gladiators, in a manner that exalts us all to humanity's hilltop.

Pete Stark, A Disgrace To His Race

by Tony Brown

A few years ago, a Washington Post writer wanted to know why I had been a speaker at the Fairmont Conference in San Francisco.

He didn't cover my message at the Republican-sponsored event featuring the Reagan Administration's new luminaries and an assortment of Blacks, many of whom were Democrats. Instead he implied that I was there without prior approval of those who opposed Reagan.

My response was that I did not live on the Post's plantation, or anyone else's, therefore I did not need permission to leave D.C.

I am reminded of this event because of the attempted spiking of Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan, a Black, by a White liberal congressman, Rep. Fortnery "Pete" Stark, a White California Democrat.

Stark called Sullivan "a disgrace to this race" because he differs with Stark on certain health care issues.

"I don't live on Pete Stark's plantation. It's too bad ultra liberals like Pete Starks haven't progressed to the point that they can accept the independent thinking of a Black man that does not conform to their own stereotyped views," Sullivan, the former dean of Morehouse University's School

Faces Behind The Numbers

by Augustus Hawkins

All too often, government figures and other statistics are thrown around loosely and indifferently with respect to the formulation of social policy. Many times we forget that there are faces behind these cold and impersonal statistics. It is helpful therefore to recall in ones mind the human tragedy and the indignities suffered by far too many of our nation's citizens.

Of these faces, children, as we all know too well, are the voiceless victims in our society. Take for example, the Head Start program, a quality federal pre-school education and health program, serving less than 1 out of 5 children who are eligible for these services. Behind these numbers are people - children who rely on federal aid to help get a head start on education at a juncture in life which almost everyone agrees, is the most critical learning period. The consequences, of not fully funding Headstart, means that around 4 out of 5 poor children will be denied a fighting chance to succeed educationally.

More faces behind the numbers are evident in the growing number of homeless children. I wonder how a person's perspective on providing aid to the homeless would change, if for example, they spent a week on the streets, or in a shelter, trying feed, clothe, and care for their children.

Last week the House of Representatives overwhelmingly passed a bipartisan education of Medicine, shot back.

We all know what attitudes Stark's comment reflected. The Black race is too inferior to analyze complicated issues or situations; that's what White liberals are for, he implied. Besides, who gave Sullivan or any other Black permission to be a part of a Republican administration; Blacks, after all, are wards of the Democratic Party, he blatantly implied.

Stark has never called a White man with whom he disagreed a "disgrace to his race." Sullivan, Stark said, was "an apologist for a racist administration." Why then has he never called a Black in Congress who apologizes for racist Democrats a "disgrace to his race?"

Ron Brown, the Black chairman of the Democratic Party, is an apologist for a racist bill entitled the Equity and Excellence in Education Act of 1990. The legislation funds programs which target readiness for school, achievement in critical skills, math and science, literacy, and safe and drug-free schools. Further the bill states that it is policy of the federal government to fully fund existing federal programs, such as Head Start, WIC, Chapter I match and reading program and the Education of the Handicapped Act, so that all eligible children will be served.

It is my hope, as I depart congress at the end of the year, that congress will fulfill this policy statement of serving all eligible children. As former President Lyndon B. Johnson said in a special message to the Congress in 1965:

"Every child must be encouraged to get as much education as he has the ability to take. We want this not only for his sake, but for the nation's sake. Nothing matters more to the future of our country; not military preparedness - for armed might is worthless if we lack the brain power to build world peace."

Those words are as valid today, 25 years later, as they were then. Therefore, if we want to help our youth achieve excellence we must pause and remember that behind the figures there are: faces, hungry stomachs, tattered clothes and broken dreams. As a nation committed to the principle of fairness, surely we can do better.

Jackson Calls For Three A's From The Resolution Trust Corporation

Recently, the Reverend Jesse Jackson, accompanied by major minority business people, met with William Seidman, Chairman of the Resolution Trust Corporation as part of an effort to make minority access a core goal in the resolution of the Savings and Loan Crisis.

Jackson called for access, a positive attitude and acquisitions from the R.T.C.

Jackson said minorities have been "legislated in and regulated out without enough information to relate."

He said, "women, senior citizens, minorities, and labor organizations were excluded from receiving the loans, now we should be included in the acquisitions of the Savings and Loans Institutions."

Jackson went on to call the meeting a significant first step in getting vital information to the minority community.

"Access must be afforded and a new attitude must be reached by the R.T.C. in order party. He even apologized for Stark's racist slur against Sullivan. That makes Brown by Stark's own definition, a "disgrace to his race." But Brown was, also by Stark's definition, defending the designated plantation overseer, which makes what he did acceptable.

For Stark's information, and White liberals like him, Sullivan's politics are his personal business. Moreover, his record of service to the Black community is exemplary.

Last week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the organization founded by Martin Luther King, presented Dr. Sullivan with one of its annual awards. SCLC also honored Martin Luther King III. I received SCLC's Black Empowerment Award.

As a leader in the field of medicine, Dr. Sullivan specialized in training young Blacks as doctors, an empowerment of the individual and an enhancement of the Black community. On March 28, Sullivan, a founding member of the Medical Education for South African Blacks, announced the MESAB was establishing the Mickey Leland Scholarship Program in South Africa. Out of 30 million Black South Africans, only 96 are pharmacists.

While Stark was out playing Big Democrat Liberal Dabby to his Black constituents in California, Sullivan was receiving the Outstanding Contribution to Medicine Award given by the National Medical Association, the nation's Black doctors, and the Black Women's Political Action Forum Humanitarian Award.

The Washington Post called Stark's comments "malicious" and "belittling." The White House called them "bigoted" and "shameful."

What is really shameful is that there is no record of one significant Black group ever honoring Pete Stark or any evidence that he has ever done anything for Black people.

But there is evidence that his attitudes towards Blacks are based on the racist assumption that they have a "place" - and that place is where White liberal Democrats like him tell them it is.

Pete Stark, therefore, is a disgrace to his race.

The Role Of Blacks In The Press

by William Reed

"The role of the Black Press is to celebrate Black life and its experiences. The role of the White Press the same role for and about them," explained the panel representative for Black-owned newspapers to the audiences of members of the National Association of Black Journalists. "And to really celebrate the achievements of Black people, and our progress in the media, why don't you put together your tremendous assets and do a leveraged buyout of the Gannett Company?" said the Black publisher as he threw down an economic gauntlet to over a thousand of the brightest and best known Black media professionals in the nation.

Seeing that the Gannett Company is the largest communications organizations in the country, Al McFarlane's message to the nation's most recognized Black media figures fell on ear's that, to date, are more in the employment mode than that of employers and owners of the nation's most dominant voice. McFarlane's provocative remarks to Blacks who earn their daily bread in White media surely made many think about the role and function of becoming "job makers."

Al McFarlane, who is publisher and owner of the Minneapolis/St. Paul Insight News, tried to show the NABJ members that their role, purpose and identity can get lost in the "objectivity" of the White-owned press. "The objectivity of the White Press is a myth, it is objective up to the point that it serves their people and their best interests and I see absolutely nothing wrong with that. The role of each of our media companies is to educate and serve our respective groups and they do their work, and associated activities, very well. We can do the same as we grow to understand what we have the ability and capability to do for ourselves and our people," the fiery McFarlane said.

Is the role of Blacks who are in the media to support the objectives of their people, their employer, or their personal goals? Are Blacks who work for White-owned communications companies able to distinguish between the goals of their employers, themselves of their people? Should Blacks who work for White-owned companies be held accountable for the type of coverage their employers provide regarding the African-American community?

Racism does exist in the media and its newsroom. We all do live in one of two separate societies in America: one is Black and the other non-Black. As soon as most of us in the media figure out our role in whatever society we deem ourselves a part of, we will either become "job makers" who will help the Black community to grow through our publication or broadcast products, on-the-job training of our people, and financial and material investments in our community; or most of us will continue to be "job takers" who carry out the directives and wishes of those who have an agenda that doesn't concur with the goals and aspirations of the African-American community.

to ensure minorities with Savings and Loan assets, including affordable housing. This access entails proper advertisement and dialogue between the R.T.C. and the minority press to insure the African-American community is well informed."

"If we can go into Eastern Europe and offer them economic rebuilding, we should be able to offer the same plan and assistance to the people in our country," he said.

Jackson said a domestic summit with President Bush is now needed to reinvest in the rebuilding of urban development and rural recovery in the United States.

He also said a second phase of today's meeting is scheduled with the R.T.C. and the minority business community in the upcoming weeks.

"Flatliners" - Playing With Death

by Peter Lewis

It is not far-fetched that a group of students might experiment with death. To some degree, they do it all the time - with drugs of dubious purity, with alcohol at 60 mph, with sexual escapades in the era of AIDS.

"Flatliners" screenwriter, Peter Filardi, took the idea of challenging death one step further. In the film, a group of medical students deliberately kill themselves and then use advanced technology to bring themselves back. The ostensible purpose is to scientifically discover what, if anything, lies beyond "brain death."

"Philosophy has failed; religion has failed; now it is up to science," says the Keifer Sutherland character who talks his fellow students into the experiment at the risk of their medical careers.

This simple idea was hot enough to start a bidding war between a number of film producers in Hollywood and earned Filardi $400,000 for his first feature film script.

Yet for all the films efforts to develop tension and personality conflicts between the students, it is still a deeply philosophical film. And it is in the realm of philosophy where it falls down most, skirting many of the deeper issues it raises. This possibly has been a key factor in the number of bad reviews the film has received, including the Los Angeles Times which called it a "losing proposition."

You can't open a can of worms like this and then expect to bring it off with the usual thriller tricks and a few over-worked notions that have been kicking around for a few thousand years.

It's easy to see where Filardi is coming from. He took philosophy courses in college, which he says excited him, but eventually led to disappointment. he found every philosophy runs into a wall and then asks you to take a leap of faith. "If you are not willing to make the leap of faith, you're right back where you started from," he said.

It is also easy to see what Filardi's problem was. Without actually doing the experiments for real, how was he to know what these medical students would really discover?

So in the end, the audience is left with confused, jumbled impressions of each student's past and an overly simplified notion of personal responsibility, which has been jazzed up with horror genre special effects.

In one way, where the script falls down most is in the area research. If Filardi had never taken musty philosophy courses in college, and if he had instead gone into a few book stores he might have discovered that philosophy and science are not the incompatible strangers they once were.

On book store shelves right now, for instance, we find Scientology: The Fundamentals of Thought by best-selling author L. Ron Hubbard.

L. Ron Hubbard took the scientific method - that process which throws away all faith that cannot be measured and proven in the laboratory - and brought it to bare on the subject of philosophy.

In other words, The frontier that "Flatliners" seeks to cross in fiction was actually scientifically explored 30 years ago, and without the need of killing people to find out what Man really is.

The results of these experiments have been largely disregarded by the cult of psychiatry which still insists, decades after, that Man is nothing more than chemical and electrical activity of the brain cells. But Hubbard's scientific community, nevertheless opened the door to a wide range of new solutions to the problems Man faces, solutions that millions have used to better their lives and improve their relationships with each other.

Even without knowledge of this research, "Flatliners" comes across as empty of any real answers to the questions it raises. And if one knows what has been accomplished in the scientific exploration of Man, the film takes on the hue just another horror film, one where even the horror is confusing and second rate.

Health Tips

Don't Turn Your Packed Car Or Truck Into A Death Trap

The family car or camper can be turned into a needless death trap by leaving the motor running while parked in order to operate the heater or air conditioning without adequate ventilation, says a Stanford University specialist in respiratory medicine.

Dr. Thomas A. Raffin, associate professor of medicine and acting chief of the Division of Respiratory Medicine, says that numerous deaths are documented each because of carbon monoxide poisoning because persons leave their motors running while parked with the windows rolled up. Gas stoves or heaters in closed campers pose the same threat.

"If you turn your engine on in a closed garage, a deadly concentration of carbon monoxide can be reached in 10 minutes or less. Even when you're driving, its always a smart idea to open the windows or a vent to ensure that carbon monoxide gas doesn't build up to the point where you feel groggy, the first sign of carbon monoxide poisoning. The gas may not reach lethal levels, but elevated concentrations of carbon monoxide gas can cause a driver to have decreased alertness," Raffin explains.

Carbon monoxide gas, given off by internal combustion engines such as in a car or truck, is poisonous in high concentrations, notes Raffin. "If you are exposed to high levels, carbon monoxide will prevent life giving oxygen from being used by the body. Therefore, you will begin to feel tired, and if concentrations are high enough, you can lapse into a coma and then die."

Local War On Poverty Agency Plans Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Dinner

The Community Services Department, formerly the Dependency Prevention Commission, will host a twenty-fifth anniversary dinner celebration on Thursday evening, September 13th (7 p.m.).

Councilman Robert Farrell, Eighth District, City of Los Angeles, will be the Keynote Speaker, and address "The Early Years of the War on Poverty."

Former board members, employees, and supporters of both the Dependency Prevention Commission and Community Services Department are invited to celebrate this landmark event.

Tickets are available at $25 per person and must be purchased by August 31. For ticket information, contact Carolyn Debevec at (714)387-2301 or Laurie Exter at (714)387-2337.

NCNW Hosts Membership Drive

The Inland Empire Section of the National Council of Negro Women will host of "One In A Million Membership Round-Up" on Sunday, September 9, from 4 - 6 p.m. at the home of Gwendolyn Heard, 1454 N. Chestnut Ave., in Rialto.

NCNW is a national organization which serves as an umbrella to 31 affiliates and 265 community based sections. Its programs of service include the Black Family Reunion, Education 2000, Fannie Lou Hamer Day Care Center, and the Cool Your Summer Electric Bills.

If your electric bills seem to rise with summer temperatures, you'll be happy to hear this.

Edison has all kinds of ways to cool yourself, and your bills, all at the same time.

The choice is yours. Setting your thermostat at 78, just a few degrees higher, can help you save.

Try using a fan instead of your air conditioner. When temperatures cool, remember to turn your air conditioner off.

Try not to use heat generating appliances, like your washer and dryer, when temperatures are up. And don't cool an empty house when you go out.

Replace your old air conditioner with an energy-efficient air conditioner. You'll save a bundle. Especially now that Edison is giving rebates. We're giving rebates on energy-efficient refrigerators too. Ask Edison which models qualify before you buy.

We've got all kinds of ideas on how to cool your electric bill. We've printed them up for you in a free booklet called "Hot Tips for a Cool Summer." For your copy just call us at 1-800-952-5062, or call our TDD-accessible phone number, 1-800-352-8580.

Obershaw Toyota Built In Spite Of Obstacles - Committed To Succeed

Forbes magazine predicts Toyota will be number three in 1990 (June 11, 1990) and local Toyota dealer Chuck Obershaw has decided he will be number one in his market.

Obershaw doesn't plan to be number one by sitting on his hands, and hoping, nor will he leave it all to chance, he believes his sound business practices, employees like Dianne Stewart and Ron Watts, increased advertising, excellent service after the sale and his parts supply center, will continue to make him a leader in the tough competitive automobile field.

Obershaw is used to competition and to being different. He is a man who has succeeded against all odds. He is a high school dropout who never felt like he belonged. He stands 5'2". His first wife died when his children were teenagers. His first partner quit the business and went to work for a competitor. He spent 14 years working, 7 days a week without a vacation and his children have presented every challenge possible.

Through it all Chuck Obershaw has become a successful businessman. Located at 1139 North E Street in San Bernardino, Obershaw has been in business 24 years.

Obershaw moved from the midwest, he was a yell leader at his school, active and accepted, to San Bernardino High.

When he was in high school he was faced with a cruel form of discrimination, that was his size. One day a football player grabbed him when he was wearing his letterman's jacket from his previous school, and teased him about his height, and warned him to never wear that jacket again. He so angered Obershaw that he decided to quit school. His parents were against it, but he missed many days ditching. At the age of 18 he enlisted in the Navy and went off to sea. When he returned he began working for the Sun Telegram, as an ad salesman. He was so good the local LeMan's dealer hired him to work part-time selling cars. Soon his salary for selling cars part-time was more than his salary at the Sun. That was the entrance to his future.

With two partners he opened his own dealership, but there wasn't much business and soon one partner went to work for the LeMan's dealership. Obershaw bought out the other partners and remolded his dealership, recently.

Although he is a dropout, he doesn't advise it for others. He did however a couple of years ago buy a commemorative tile at his almer mater and for the year he graduated he put "DROPOUT," he wanted it to open dialogue for students who are considering the same so he can discourage them from making the same mistake. He has burden in his heart for these students.

If he accomplished all that he has without a high school diploma just think of how much further he'd go with one. He wonders about that.

Now, Chuck and his wife Shelby, former teacher, and a school board member, are taking it easy, traveling and enjoying the years with each other that they missed while he was building his dealership.

African-American Team Seeks To Reclaim Leadership In High-Tech Shoe Repair

First Lady Of Soles Is A Hollywood Shoo-In - Setting the pace in the new high-tech shoe repair industry, entrepreneur Valerie B. Shaw is the proprietor of the Shoe Healer, on Sunset and Vine in Hollywood.

It is as unlikely a partnership as there ever was - a master cobbler, master shoe shineman and a female writer - all African Americans, all bent making a Hollywood shoe repair salon, a success story.

"The Shoe Healer is not just any salon," says master cobbler/general manager Henri White, who, as a third generation cobbler, has been practicing his craft for 20 years. "We have opened the most modern high-tech shoe repair salon in the world."

With plush red wall-to-wall carpet, a 16-foot bank of European imported state-of-the-art equipment encircled in an elegant 36-foot customer shoe bar, the Shoe Healer opened in November as Hollywood's first modern while-u-wait repair salon.

"An African brought shoe repair to this country," says "Hollywood" Bill Elder, master shineman for 30 years. "African Americans have always been the leaders in shoe care."

"We were prominent in the industry, adds Valerie Shaw, a writer and the vice president of marketing for the Shoe Healer, until the new high-tech concept caught hold. Only then, "she admonishes," did we decide to sell out."

Both White and Elder are alarmed. Says Henri White: "Now that the industry has gone upscale - in design, service and profits - it is becoming dominated by non-Black entrepreneurs with no previous repair experience.

"We are becoming a modern-day African American success story," continues White. "By providing our best individual expertise and providing unparalleled while-u-wait service in an elegant atmosphere, we are in the position to take back our leadership in this great service industry."

If The Shoe Fits You Can Thank Jan Matzeliger

One hundred years ago, when shoes were crafted by hand, a young Black immigrant from Dutch Guiana, Jan Ernst Matzeliger, single-handedly revolutionized the shoe industry with his complex invention of a mechanical shoe making device.

Instead of 50 pairs of shoes the fastest craftsman could produce in a day, Matzeliger's mechanical device could manufacture over 1,000.

Matzeliger's invention was so profound, making affordable shoes available to the masses, that it put his adopted hometown, Lynn, Mass., on the map as "the shoe capital of the world." Although he died pen-niless, at age 37, Matzeliger's invention spawned a multi-million-dollar industry, led by United Shoe Company, which bought his patent.

The legacy of Jan Matzeliger passed from African American father to son - most predominately in the rural south and industrializing North - until it was nearly forgotten that it was a Black man who opened the door of opportunity to his race.

Today, on the Centennial anniversary of his death, we remember that Jan Ernst Matzeliger was to modern day shoes what Henry Ford was to automobiles: The Father.

The Shoe Healer, located on the world-famous corner of Sunset & Vine, is the first shoe repair salon to offer an array of special services now common to other industries - senior citizen, fire and police department discounts, pick up and delivery, monthly specials and promotions.

"Our master cobbler staff has over 100 years of combined experience - everything from shining and dying to repairing expensive suedes and reptile skins to building orthopedic shoes," says Shaw, the partner who brought the multi-racial professional team together.

[The third master is Max Kapelnikov, a Russian emerge with 45 years experience in orthopedic repair and custom shoe making.]

"We need to be the best," Shaw says, "in order to build a successful Shoe Healer franchise. It will be the first Black-owned shoe repair franchise in the country. Any why not?," she adds. "The Sunset/Vine [flagship] salon is already known around the country as a model of shoe repair in the next century!"

Cal Poly's Summer Bridge Helps Students Avoid Troubled Water

Succeeding in college can often be a matter of preparation. Those who know what to expect may do better than those who face the rigors of university life with no advance planning. For 119 students who participated in Cal Poly Pomona's Summer Bridge Program, the head start they received may well mean they have a better chance at staying in college and graduating.

Summer Bridge, now in its sixth year throughout The California State University, is designed to improve the retention and graduation rates of underrepresented students. Thus far the program has been successful. An evaluation by an independent research firm, Far West Laboratory, shows retention rates for Summer Bridge participants exceed the rate of similar students who were not in the program.

"Higher education has been concerned that more students from underrepresented groups have not entered college, and when they do, have not succeeded at rates comparable with other student populations," said Cal Poly President Hugh

O. La Bounty. "It's through programs such as Summer Bridge that Cal Poly, and other universities, are addressing this issue and demonstrating their commitment to helping students enter, persist and graduate from our institutions."

This year's Summer Bridge students at Cal Poly will be getting an extra boost though an $8,000 gift from the Pepsi Cola Co. With the funds, President La Bounty has established the Pepsi Cola-Summer Bridge Achievement Awards which will provide each participant who completes the program and enrolls in Cal Poly in the fall with a $70 stipend for books and supplies.

Participants in the five-week program go through two phases. The first provides them with an orientation to acquaint them with university procedures and facilities, and offers recreational and cultural enrichment activities.

In the second phase, students receive academic instruction in areas including math, cultural awareness through speech and critical thinking, and English.

Students are not the only ones to benefit from Summer Bridge. James Lopez, director of the Educational Opportunity Program, and director of Summer Bridge, points out that parents play an important role as well. An orientation booklet for parents was prepared in English and Spanish which provided parents with information they'll need to help prepare their sons and daughters for college.

"The Summer Bridge experience offers students a tremendous opportunity to get a head start on making a successful transition to the four-year university," said Lopez.

"In fact, I often compare it to Project Head Start, the federal program, in that both programs are preparatory in nature."

Openings Available For 17th Annual Engineering Conference

The 17th Annual Camping Conference on Blacks in Engineering, Science, and Business will be held at Round Meadow camp in the San Bernardino National Forest. The event will take place September 7-9, 1990 and room is still available for high school and college students.

The camping conference is an educational and informative event designed to motivate students into pursuing an education in the fields of science, engineering, and business. The youth will be exposed to employment, opportunities, careers, guest speakers, interaction with professional, and college students, and hands-on computer sessions.

As we do every year Black Voice has scholarships for students who cannot afford the $20 fee for high school students and college freshman, or $25 for college sophomores, juniors, or seniors.

This event is sponsored by the National Society of Black Engineers, Region VI. For registration and information call Marian Clompton at 875-6352 or Kathleen Hall at 885-8798.

The ABC's of Back-to-School

The lazy days of summer are over and the back-to-school race is here.

Running to school in the morning or from school in the afternoon, children run the risk of injury.

"Head injury is among the most dangerous of injuries, especially for children," according to Dr. James Wasco, medical director for the New Medico Head Injury System. "Any injury to the brain can significantly impair a child's ability to learn, concentrate or remember information and this can have a damaging effect on a child's development."

Before you send your children back to school, outfit them with a few safety reminders.

Walking to School

Most pedestrian accidents are the fault of the walker, not the driver, according to the National Safety Council, so:

- Be sure to allow enough time for your child to get to school without rushing.
- Plan your child's walking route to minimize the number of street crossings.
- Teach your child always to use sidewalks and to cross at crosswalks. Where there are no sidewalks, have your child walk facing traffic, so the child can see oncoming cars.

Riding the School Bus

Although school buses are much safer than family cars, statistics indicate that 40 students die and 7,000 are injured each year in school bus accidents. The majority of these accidents occur outside the bus, when students are boarding or exiting.

- Have your child wait for the bus to stop completely, then board carefully, using the handrail.
- Tell your children to take their seat quickly and stay in that seat for the entire ride — never putting head, arms or hands out the window.
- Teach your children to cross at least 10 feet in front of the bus so the driver can see them.

If you need more information about head injury and rehabilitation, call the New Medico Head Injury System at 1-800-CARE TBI, ext. 3070.

"Going to school without parents is a sign of a child's independence," said Dr. Wasco, "but children must learn that practicing safety is a prerequisite for independence."

Question & Answers

Rev. Reginald Woods

Staying On The Right Track

QUESTION: Dear Pastor Woods, Once a person has made a decision to live a "true Christian life," how do they stay on the right track?

ANSWER: The Bible says in Ephesians 6, "having done all to stand, stand!" Jesus and make a firm stand on God's word. A human baby needs a good healthy diet in order to grow.

Likewise, as a Christian you need a consistent diet. God gave us His Word as spiritual food for spiritual growth. You need to be in a church where the Bible is taught and the people are living the Word. Also, the Bible warns against companionship with people who are not Christians. You are compared as light with darkness. Your life is different. You need fellowship with fellow Christian believers. The devil hates committed Christians. That is why there are so few of them. But thank God, Jesus Christ is greater than the devil!

If you have a question that you would like answered, write: Pastor Reginald Woods, Life Changing Ministries, P.O. Box 449, San Bernardino, CA 92402.

Moreno Valley News

By Charles Ledbetter

Something To Think About: When "God" made you, he made you great, affirm and believe. "I am bigger than any problem. I can overcome any problem." Norman Vincent Peale.

Moreno Valley High School AFROTC, from Moreno Valley to the pentagon: "Where the heck is Moreno Valley?" This question was answered a few days ago by a group of ordinary everyday students from the Moreno Valley High School. This group represented many ethnic backgrounds. They are the AFROTC students from the Moreno Valley High School AFROTC Training Program. This fine group of teenagers were invited to compete in the National Drill Meet, and annual military parade sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars. This was the 91st National Convention which was held in Baltimore, Maryland.

These teenagers won 1st place in Jr. Open Guard, 2nd, Jr. Open Field Contest, 1st, Jr. ROTC Color Guards, 1st, Jr. ROTC Armed Drill Team, 1st, Jr. ROTC Unarmed Drill Team, 1st Open Armed Drill Team. Our boys and girls also won 1st place as the Best Overall Marching Unit in the parade which was held Tuesday evening. The parade route was one and a half miles long.

Wednesday August 22, our youth were given a tour of the Pentagon, where they performed and received many compliments. A staff person from the White House requested information regarding our group. I understand a telephone call was made to the district reporting what a wonderful impression Moreno Valley boys and girls were making. As your AFROTC team marched down the halls of the Pentagon, they passed many high ranking officers and other top personnel. Many remarks were made regarding how sharp they were executed the various moves. It was also noticed and mentioned how well behaved they were.

Later, A group picture was taken in front of the "Department of Defense." This was a thrill for all of us. Also, our group was able to pass through an area where perfect quitness was required. The students controlled themselves in an outstanding manner as we passed the area where the Joint Chiefs of Staff work.

Citizens of Moreno Valley, Moreno Valley High School AFROTC has made the nation aware of the fine youth we have to work with in the Moreno Valley School District. Together, we can continue to make Moreno Valley a "Model For America." I noticed the sharing and caring these students displayed as they became national champions for their community.

Can you imagine the thrill our children from Moreno Valley High School experienced flying at 35,000 feet over the United States of America, when they heard over the public address system, "Ladies and gentlemen, today, we are honored to have flying with us a group of young people who are AFROTC national drill team champions from Moreno Valley High School, located in Moreno Valley, California?" "Where the heck is Moreno Valley?" They know now!!

The Jesse Jackson Show To Debut This Fall

The Reverend Jesse L. Jackson, one of the most dynamic forces in the world today, marks his first television venture with "The Jesse Jackson Show," a weekly, one-hour talk series set to debut in the Fall of 1990.

Quincy Jones

Featuring a wide and balanced look at the issues and experiences of American life, "the Jesse Jackson Show" brings together four of the most respected members of the communications industry. Quincy Jones, Grammy Award-winning musician and versatile impresario and Michael Linder, formerly executive producer of "America's Most Wanted," will both serve as executive producers. Emmy Award-winning journalist Kenneth Walker will serve as senior producer, while Van Gordon Sauter, who executive producer the pilot, will serve as an executive consultant on the series.

"The Jesse Jackson Show" will offer a national forum for new voices of America to be heard; people who seldom have access to mass media - be they women battling workplace discrimination or American Indians fighting to correct generations of blatant treaty abuse. Other elements will include bold and innovative documentaries to graphically illustrate ways in which these and other issues touch the lives of those affected.

Additionally, some of the world's most gifted and popular performers will lend their talents. Musicians and other performing artists who have focused the nation's hearts and minds on the plight of Africa's starving, the scourge of AIDS, the devastation of the world's rain forests and the cruelty of apartheid.

"The Jesse Jackson Show" will also feature insightful, one-on-one interviews with major figures and role models from all walks of life to share the wisdom and experiences of their extraordinary lives.

While "The Jesse Jackson Show" pledges to be balanced and fair, Reverend Jackson's passion for justice and his willingness to fight for the rights of the underdog will add unmistakable fire.

"The Jesse Jackson Show" is a Quincy Jones Entertainment Company production in association with Jesse L. Jackson Productions

Danielle Hobbs Wins First Place In National Dance Competition

"Thank you for your prayers and support," said Danielle Hobbs, the First place winner of the "I Love Dance" National Dance Competition in Dallas, Texas.

"This is one experience that I will never forget. I made many new friends who also love dance. I am now looking forward to returning next year, plus enter other dance competitions," added Hobbs.

But first, Danielle feels she has to make the biggest adjustment in her life. She will enter Junior High School this fall. She is looking forward to the challenge as this will be a remarkable difference after attending a private christian elementary school. She is not sure what effect this will have on dancing, but she's planning to give dance all of her free time. "I also want to explore voice. I love singing with my dad when he takes me back and forth to dance," said Hobbs. Danielle is the daughter of John and Mary Hobbs.

Riverside Arts Foundation Awarded $42,855 By California Arts Foundation

The State/Local Partnership Program of the California Arts Council has awarded $42,855 to the Riverside Arts Foundation for basic operating support and project for reganting, publications and community outreach programs. Designated by the County of Riverside as the agency eligible to receive state funding for the arts, the RAF is one of 52 state/local partners to be funded by this program. Arts organizations throughout the state received a total of $1,317,900.

The State/Local Partnership Program supports the growth of a statewide network of local arts agencies, encourages increased local public and private funding for the arts, and aids in presenting the arts to underserved populations.

To receive funding, designated partners must show evidence of service to the community, broad representation and fiscal and administrative competence. Funds are awarded to partners who increase the amount and quality of local arts activities, particularly those that involve local businesses, government, and a variety of community sectors.

The peer review panel applauded the RAF's efforts "to serve more geographic areas of the country through its diverse programming and services." The panel also praised the Foundation's efforts in addressing cultural diversity, particularly through its arts in education program and the multi-cultural program of artists' residencies in the Coachella Valley.

The RAF received funding for its Riverside and desert office operations, publications, reganting to other arts, organizations, multi-cultural and technical assistance programs, and community outreach projects.

"The Riverside Arts Foundation is committed to programming in all areas of Riverside County and extending arts services to all segments of the population. We are grateful to the California Arts Council for their substantial support of these programs," said Mary Lee Peters, executive director of the Riverside Arts Foundation.

"At this time of questioning the appropriateness of funding the National Endowment for the Arts, it should be noted that these Riverside County arts programs are partially funded by the NEA through the CAC's State/Local Partnership program," added Peters.

Musical Group - TROOP

Total Respect Of Other People

Troop stands for Total Respect Of Other People, an apt acronym for a quintet of young men who have already commanded the total respect of the music industry and music lovers alike. Their debut album, "TROOP," zoomed up the R&B charts, and yielded them two top 10 hits, "Mamacita" and "My Heart," as well as the top 20 single, "Still In Love."

Lead singers Steve Russel and Allen McNeil, and back-up vocalists Rodney Benford, John Harreld, and Reggie Warren are big hits on stage as well, their spectacular harmonizing greatly enhanced by the fivesome's dynamite dancing. "We put dancing and singing together in a serious package," says Allen. "When we get together it's like 'this is what we're supposed to be doing.' Everything falls into place."

Troop began as Five Of A Kind, a quintet that Reggie and Rodney formed at the age of 15.

What they had in mind was a group whose performances would rely heavily on both vocals and dancing. The first signs of success were almost instantaneous, as the five boys won an audition for the television show, "Puttin' On The Hits," eventually going on to win a $1,000 prize for their appearance on the show.

"The main reason for our early successes was our special closeness," declares Steve. "We all grew up together, and know each other real well, and those bonds can still be felt in our show." A lot of hard work in the form of endless rehearsals supervised by Rodney's mother - the group's guiding light - were also instrumental in assuring Troop's thoroughly professional appearance.

That televised victory preceded a long series of talent contest triumphs at a number of high schools in and around Southern California. Troop rapidly became local heroes for the Pasadena region's teenage community. A demo tape brought them to the attention of Atlantic Records, who after attending two performances, promptly signed the group.

Troop has released their second album, "ATTITUDE." The album's credits read like who's who of R&B heavy hitters. Atlantic Records labelmates Chuckii Booker and Gerald Levert both contributed songs and production skills, Chuckii producing and penning two songs; Gerald two. Several other producers were involved with the album, giving it a diversity of styles and sounds.

"ATTITUDE" features such thrillings cuts as their current single, "All I Do Is Thing Of You," a remake of The Jackson's '70s hit which has gained Troop another number 1 song. "This album is about the Troop mystique," says McNeil. "We're saying 'Look, we're back and we're here to stay.'" With this kind of "ATTITUDE."

Edwin Dean Named Principal Of San Bernardino Academy Middle School

The Board of Education of the San Bernardino City Unified School District recently named Edwin Dean to the post of principal of Martin Luther King, Jr. Academy Middle School. He was serving as a vice principal there when he received the appointment.

In 1988 Dean came to San Bernardino City Schools from his position as a middle school administrator with the Cherry Creek School District near Denver, Colorado. He had also been a teacher in the Jennings School District near St. Louis and was middle school principal in Nashville, Tennessee.

His other administrative assignments included positions as assistant principal and principal in schools in Chicago.

Dean received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Quincy College in Quincy, Illinois, and Masters in Education Administration from the University of Illinois at Chicago. He also holds a Master's in Theology from UI Chicago.

"It is an honor and privilege to be selected to lead Martin Luther King, Jr., Academy," Dean says. "King has solid programs and it's a good mixture of ethnic groups -both among members of the student body and the staff."

Referring to the fact that Martin Luther King Academy is the district's magnet program for telecommunications and technology, he says, "Telecommunications is obviously a direction for society and we're gearing students for that."

Dean says he was attracted

to San Bernardino City Schools because of its heavy emphasis on middle school education. "The basis of middle schools is that they provide students with the opportunity to bond very closely with at least one adult."

This is such a critical time for youngsters and they need to know someone cares about them. It's the last chance we have to really make an impact on a youngster before they get into all the pressures and changes of the teen years."

Martin Luther King, Jr. Academy was reopened as a middle school in July 1988 and has a magnet program for communication, arts, and technology. It is also the site of all the district's Vanguard sixth grade classes and has classes for gifted seventh and eighth grade students.

Completing Dean's administrative team are vice principals, Jimmi Skivver and Dr. Florante Parrenas. The school is located at 1250 N. Medical Center Dr.

100 Black Men Sponsor Career Day

The 100 Black men held their Family Night Program Tuesday night at the Rialto Sizzler. Among the features of the program were discussion of the purpose of 100 Black men. Improve the quality of life for Black and other minorities, low income and disadvantaged persons. Congressman George Brown Jr. addressed the audience followed by a question and answer period. The audience expressed interest in Civil Rights issued i.e. 1990 Civil Rights act, the savings and loan failure to abuser and the pending child care bill.

An important announcement was that 100 Black men will be sponsoring a career day at Myers Elementary School, 9th and Meridian Streets in Rialto. Among the con-

PUBLIC NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY Negative Declaration -
Finding of No Significant Impact
Available for Route 91
(Riverside Freeway)

What's Being Approved
Caltrans (California Department of Transportation) and the U.S. Federal Highway Administration have been studying proposals to improve highway facilities on the Riverside Freeway (Route 91) between Route 57 (Orange Freeway) and Magnolia Street in the cities of Anaheim, Riverside, Corona and Yorba Linda and unincorporated areas of Orange and Riverside Counties. The improvements will consist of constructing High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV) Lanes in each direction primarily within the existing Caltrans right-of-way.

Why This Ad?
Caltrans and the Federal Highway Administration have approved this NEGATIVE DECLARATION/FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT (ND/FONSI) selecting Alternative "B".

What's Available?
The ND/FONSI which describes the selected project alternative is now available to the public. Caltrans is distributing it to persons who made substantive comments on the Initial Study/Environmental Assessment. Caltrans has filed a Notice of Determination (NOD).

Where You Come In:
You may review or purchase the study at the Caltrans District 8 Tax Measures Office at 3560 University Avenue, Suite 300, Riverside, CA or Caltrans District 12 Office, 2501 Pullman Street, Santa Ana, California weekdays between 7:30 A.M. and 4:00 P.M. Copies are available for review at these locations:

Canyon Hills Library 400 So. Scout Trail Anaheim, California	Sunkist Branch Library 901 South Sunkist Anaheim, California	Corona Public Library 650 So. Main Corona, California
La Sierra Library 4600 La Sierra Avenue Riverside, California	Norco Public Library 2634 Hammer Avenue Norco, California

Please note, while Caltrans completes detailed engineering plans, the construction scheduling remains undetermined due to funding uncertainties.

CITY OF CORONA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
CALTRANS PROJECT NO. 08-460544
CITY PROJECT NO. 10-590
CITY DRAWING NO. 90-036
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
INVITING BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the City Clerk of Corona, 815 West Sixth Street, Corona, California, until 2 p.m. on October 4, 1990 at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud for construction in accordance with the project plans and specifications to which special reference is made, as follows:

Bridge Replacement, Highway Reconstruction And Traffic Signal Improvements Located At:
Maple Street and SR 91
Smith Avenue and SR 91
Lincoln Avenue and SR 91

This project has a goal of 15 percent minority business enterprise (MBE) participation and 5 percent women business enterprise (WBE) participation.

This project is subject to the "Buy America" provisions of the Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982.

A pre-bid meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m., September 18, 1990 at City of Corona Council Chamber.

This meeting is to inform MBE's and WBE's of subcontracting and material supply opportunities. Bidders attendance at this meeting is a prerequisite for demonstrating reasonable effort to obtain MBE and WBE participation; however, if the MBE and WBE goal is met, attendance is not required.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein. This contract is subject to the State contract nondiscrimination and compliance requirements pursuant to Government Code Section 12990.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms for bidding this project can only be obtained at Dokken Engineering, 242 East Airport Drive, Suite 205, San Bernardino, CA 92401.

The Contractor shall possess a Class A license, or a combination of Class C-8 and C-12 licenses, at the time this contract is awarded.

The Contractor must also be properly at the time the bid is submitted, except that a joint venture license may be obtained by a combination of licenses after bid opening but before award in accordance with Business and Professionals Code, Section 7029.1.

The successful bidder shall furnish a payment bond and a performance bond.

As per line Public Contract Code, the Contractor will be permitted the substitution of securities for any monies withheld by a public agency to ensure performance under contract. At the request and expense of the Contractor, securities equivalent of the amount withheld shall be deposited with the public agency, or with a state chartered bank as the escrow agent, who shall pay such monies to the Contractor upon satisfactory completion of the contract. Securities eligible for investment under this section shall include those listed in Section 16430 of the Public Contract Code or bank or savings and loan certificates of deposit. The Contract shall be the beneficial owner of any securities substituted for monies withheld and shall receive any interest thereon.

The City of Corona hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, disadvantaged business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in consideration for an award.

The State of California shall have the right to assume full and direct control over this contract whenever the State of California, at its sole discretion, shall determine that his responsibility so requires. In such cases, the State Contract Act will govern.

MINIMUM AND PREVAILING WAGES: Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing rates of wages have been determined and these are listed in the California Department of Transportation publication, General Prevailing Wage Rates, effective on the date of this notice. Copies of said prevailing rates are on file at the Office of the Director of Public Works, City of Corona, 815 West Sixth Street, Corona, California. Contractor agrees that not less than said prevailing rates shall be paid to workers employed on this public works contract as required by Labor Code Sections 1771 and 1774 of the State of California.

No bid will be received unless it is made on the Bidders Proposals form furnished by the City. Each bid must be accompanied by cash or a certified cashier's check, or Bidder's Bond on the bond form provided by the City, payable to the City of Corona in an amount equal to at least 10 percent of the amount of the bid, such guarantee to be forfeited under the provisions of Section 20172 of the California Public Contracts Code should the bidder to whom the contract is awarded fail to enter into the contract and provide the required Performance and Payment Bonds within 10 calendar days after the date of the award of the contract.

Contract Documents, including Plans and Special Provisions, but not including the Standard Plans or Standard Specifications (which are available from Caltrans), can only be obtained at Dokken Engineering, 242 East Airport Drive, Suite 205, San Bernardino, CA 92401. Sets of Contract Documents, as described above, may be purchased for a non-refundable fee of $200 each which includes sales tax and mailing costs.

Bidders are advised that the Contractor may be required to provide insurance to indemnify the City for any damage to the work caused by earthquake or tidal wave. Such determination will be made prior to award of the contract. If City determines that such insurance shall be required, bids will be compared based upon the total amount of the bid which includes the bid item for such insurance. If City determines that such insurance shall not be required, bids will be compared on the basis of the total amount of the bid which is adjusted to exclude the bid item of such insurance. Pursuant to provisions of Government Code Sections 4150 and 4151, bidders shall indicate, in the appropriate space provided in the Bidder's proposal, the cost of insurance premiums for earthquake and tidal wave indemnification. Insurance shall be procured from a California-licensed insurance company.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any irregularity or information in any bid to the extent permitted by law. Bidder may not withdraw his bid for 45 days after the bid opening.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION AND CITY OF ONTARIO
PUBLIC NOTICE
STUDY RESULTS AVAILABLE AND ANNOUNCEMENT OF PUBLIC HEARING

WHAT'S BEING PLANNED:

The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) and the City of Ontario propose to construct a new diamond interchange at the existing Haven Avenue overcrossing (PM R8.4/R9.4) of Route 60 located between Milliken Avenue interchange and Archibald Avenue interchange. The Haven Avenue roadway would be widened from two to six lanes at the overcrossing with double left turn lanes and shoulders. Auxiliary lane extensions would be provided easterly to join existing Milliken Avenue interchange auxiliary lanes, and a new auxiliary lane would be extended westerly to Archibald Avenue interchange for westbound traffic. The necessary right-of-way acquisition, soundwalls on the southerly side of the freeway and related utility relocation will be included with the project.

WHY THIS NOTICE:

Caltrans has studied the effects this project may have on the environment. The studies show the project will not significantly affect the quality of the environment. The study report explaining this is called an Environmental Assessment/Negative Declaration. This notice is to inform you of the preparation of the Environmental Assessment/Negative Declaration and of its availability for you to read. In addition, a public hearing will be held to give you an opportunity to discuss certain design features of the project with Caltrans and City staff before the final design is selected. Also, at the public hearing tentative schedule for right-of-way acquisition and construction scheduling will be discussed.

WHAT'S AVAILABLE:

Maps, the Environmental Assessment/Negative Declaration, and Technical Studies are available for review or purchase at the Caltrans District Office, 247 West Third Street, San Bernardino, CA weekdays from 7:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Copies of the documents are also available for review at the Ontario City Hall, Engineering Department, 303 East "B" Street, Ontario, CA and the City of Ontario Public Library, 215 East "C" Street, Ontario, CA during normal working hours.

WHEN AND WHERE:

Caltrans and the City of Ontario will hold informal showings on Wednesday, September 26 and Tuesday, October 2, 1990, from 4:00-7:00 p.m. at the Ontario City Hall (303 East "B" Street). Maps and other exhibits will be on display. Both Caltrans and the City of Ontario staff will be on hand to answer questions regarding the proposed project. A public hearing will be held on Tuesday, October 2, 1990 at 7:00 p.m. in the City of Ontario Council Chambers.

WHERE YOU COME IN:

Do you have any comments about processing the project with an Environmental Assessment/Negative Declaration? Do you disagree with the findings of the study as set forth in the Environmental Assessment/Negative Declaration? Would you care to make any other comments on the project? Please submit your comments in writing no later than October 16, 1990 to Caltrans District 8, Public Affairs Office, P.O. Box 231, San Bernardino, CA 92402 or to City of Ontario, Engineering Department, 303 East "B" Street, Ontario, CA 91764.

CONTACT:

For more information about this study or any transportation matter, Call Caltrans Public Affairs Office at (714) 383-4229, or the City of Ontario, Mr. Michael A. Curtin, at (714) 391-2528.
